IDEAS FOR HOME BUILDERS

BY WM. A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 12 West Jackson boulevard, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Around the nesting problem center all the loveliest and tenderest associations of life. A little four-room cottage just big enough for two to start housekeeping in, is shown in this plan. The widest part is 32 feet; and the extreme length, 42 feet; but this does not mean that the house is 30 by 42 feet in size. It is a good deal smaller than that, but the shape makes it look much larger than it really is, and the shape also makes it easy to provide plenty of light, sunshine, and air. You never appreciate sunlight in a house at its true value until you have lived in a city flat in partial darkness, where you get a breath of fresh air only occasionally, when the wind is in the right direction—and this happens, in some city blocks, only at rare intervals.

My business keeps me confined pretty close to the city, so that I have unusual opportunities to see a good deal of the sunny side of life. When I do take a trip out to some of the smaller towns where interesting little houses are in course of construction, I realize the difference, and envy people who can spend most of their time in the bright sunshine, and breathe fresh air uncontaminated with smoke and the noxious odors common to crowded and unclean city alleys.

I have for years preached the gospel of home life. I love to see young folks pair off and settle down to make such a house is very cheap, and it is within the means of any young man who possesses ordinary health. His wife will help him a little; there is no good reason why he should not have it paid for in a few years' time.

There is a great advantage in a living room like the one provided in this design, because you can have opposite windows and ventilation from both directions, besides an opportunity to get a bit of sunlight twice a day. It requires sunlight to brighten up a home; and too many living rooms are built in such a way as to shut out the direct rays of the sun. This room is large enough to be comfortable in winter, with a good heating stove in the far corner from the kitchen. You cannot very well have a heating stove in a small room; it makes the air too stuffy; but in a room as big as this you can have circulation enough to keep the atmosphere in good condition.

There is plenty of roof surface on this little house to provide soft water, which is another luxury enjoyed in small places that is unknown in the city. A good cistern with filter that works right, is a great satisfaction. Of course, it is sometimes apt to be neglected, and the water becomes rank-smelling; but this is no fault of the cistern; it is the fault of the man who has it in charge. You cannot neglect a cistern and have nice water; but you can have good, clean, soft rain water with very little trouble if you go about it right.

When I stay over night at a farmhouse and have rain water to wash in, I find it one of my best days, when we had things comfortable at the old home. It was a great contrast from the lime-laden solution that I am little homes for themselves. It is the right way to get the greatest possible enjoyment out of life. There is quite a difference, usually, in the amount of money that can be made in a small town or village, in comparison with the same person's income after he has become established in a large city; but it is easier for young folks in a small place to get a home of their own, than it is in the city. It is easy to prove this by statistics. A ten dollar bill does not look so large after you have paid the claims of the city grocery man, the market man, and all the other hands that are outstretched for dividends. Things are not always what they seem; and the extra pay of a man who moves from a small place to a large one is usually unsatisfactory. My experience is that those in smaller towns and villages who set out to have a comfortable home of their own are in comparatively better now obliged to use about 350 days in the year.

The woman who does her own washing and likes to have her household linen look just right, appreciates soft water more than anyone else. There are many luxuries to be had in the country that should be appreciated more than they are. The trouble is, we are all looking for something more exciting or interesting, and most of us do not find what we go after.

Method in His Forgiveness.

One of C. W. Morse's acquaintances called a friend into his Wall Street office the other day. He said that he wanted to show something funny.

"Look at this," said he. "It is an engraved acknowledgment of Mr. Morse's thanks to those who sent him congratulatory letters and telegrams, when he was released from the penitentiary at Atlanta."

It didn't make a tremendous hit with the man to whom it was shown. He breezed hastily through some of the better known aspects of Mr. Morse's character, and predicted gloomily, as to Mr. Morse's future.

"Don't talk that way," said the banker. "I don't like to hear people roaster poor Charley like that."

The other fellow stared open eyed.

"That's funny," said he. "Morse said you out in the most cold blooded manner possible. He double-crossed you, and then, to make it good, he triple-crossed you. And now you're talking love and forgiveness for the man who jobbed you. Is your bean loose?"

"It is not," said the banker, decidedly. "Morse owes me $100,000. Now that he's out of jail, he may pay me back."—New York Correspondence Cincinnati Times-Star.

Mind for Detail.

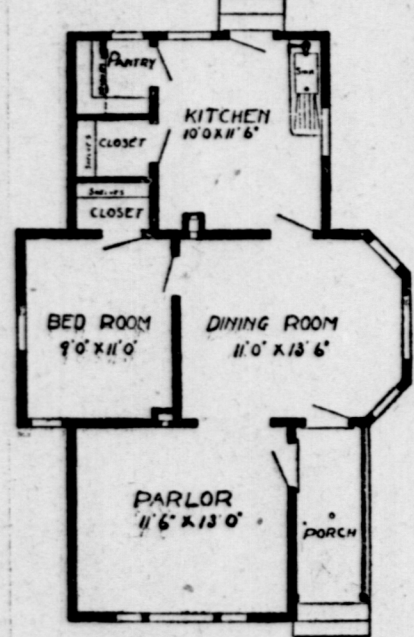

"Here's a pamphlet for you, Miss Greenhill, that come to this office to-day without a proper address," said the rural postmaster, handing a long-expected magazine to her. "Of course, I dunno for sure it's for you, but the chances are it is. For I noticed you posted a letter here three weeks ago addressed to a company by the same name as the one that publishes this here pamphlet."

Unusual Character.

"Now, there is Huffs. Huffs is a very original fellow."

"Is that so?"

"I am quite sure on that point because he has never been heard to say that he wished he had John D. Rockefeller's money."

circumstances in middle life than other young folks who move away to better themselves.

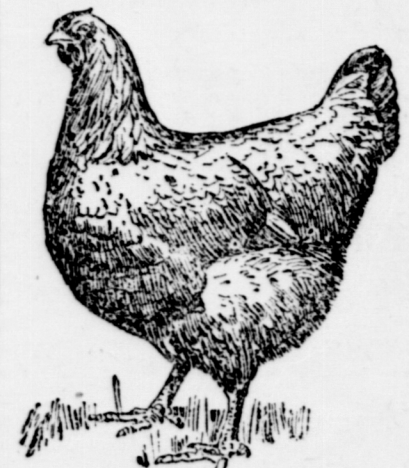

Here is a little house that looks well both inside and out. It is a very easy house to take care of, and is not likely to need repairs—a house that will prove very satisfactory when its cost is considered. Houses like this have been built complete for $500; but owing to the advance in the cost of building materials and labor during the last few years, it is better to add another hundred or two to the estimate; however, $1,000 or $1,200 for tion at the Connecticut Poultry association meeting held at Hartford recently, as some of the speakers had single combed Rhode Island Reds.

Following is the report of the leading hens for the twelfth week of the contest:

John A. Frechery of Harrisburg, Pa., single comb Rhode Island Red, 21 eggs; Howard Steele of Philadelphia, Pa., single comb Rhode Island Red, 23 eggs; Tom Nott of Farmington, Conn., single comb Rhode Island Red, 20 eggs; C. S. Scoville of East Haven, single comb Rhode Island Red, 23 eggs; 7 per cent. Nott's farm; Walter Hills of Long Island, N. Y., barred Plymouth Rock, 21 eggs; C. S. Scoville of East Haven, Conn., rose comb Rhode Island Red, 20 eggs; Woodside Poultry farm, Philadelphia, Pa., white Wyandottes, 18 eggs; Arnold Francis of Oak, Pa., single comb Rhode Island Red, 18 eggs; E. G. Yost of Sayre, Pa., single comb White Leghorns, 15 eggs.

ELECTRIC INCUBATOR IS BIG

Machines Built for New Orleans Poultry Raiser Has Capacity of 6,000 Eggs—How Worked.

One of the largest electric incubators in the anywhere in the world was built for a poultry raiser in New Orleans. It is 40 feet long by 5 feet wide, and contains 40 compartments each having a capacity of 150 eggs says the Popular Mechanic. Each compartment can be separately controlled.

rolled, so that any one, or all of the compartments, can be operated, according to the number of eggs to be hatched. The controlling thermostat used does not completely break the water circuit, but introduces the comparatively high resistance of a small electric lamp when open, thus avoiding sparking at the contacts.

POULTRY NOTES

Nothing like a few warm days to coax the hens to lay.

Don't let your brooders get too fat or you will be sorry for it.

Young ducks should always have plenty of water and shade and grit.

Green cut bone and meat foods are the worms and bugs in the winter ration.

No condition powder on the market is as good as wholesome food and plenty of exercise.

Turkey gobblers should be mated with the hens as early as possible, preferably by the first of April.

The best layers are those fowls that have been bred particularly with a view to increased egg production.

Inbreeding soon lowers the vitality of a flock. That is why we should get new males or settings of eggs every year.

There is genuine satisfaction in owning thoroughbred stock and they cost no more to feed. Go for the best.

Have you ever noticed the hens following the plow and did you observe how fast the grub disappeared? This is good for the hens and the land also. Encourage them.

A bone cutter will surely pay for itself. Green cut bone supplies the hen with ability to produce eggs, nourishes her fenders and keeps her in general good health.

COL. BRYAN, who has said that he would not accept another nomination, now has a conspicuous precedent for changing his mind.

NECESSARILY, many of the presidential candidates will lose out in the coming election, but fortunately the majority of them have a trade to fall back on. They have demonstrated that they are experts at guttering and spouting.

If Teddy had a million dollar corruption fund in Ohio, which the returns might indicate, there will be few men left to vote in that state, as practically one whole county is now disfranchised for selling its votes.

BURLINGTON, Wash., is planning to plant cherry trees along all its streets so that a few years hence it may pay its municipal expenses out of the proceeds of its own cherry crop. It will be interesting to see the mayor of Burlington up a cherry tree picking his salary off the branches.

THAT Colorado plan of using state prisoners to improve the public highways is resulting in better roads and better prisoners. It may work automatically to perpetuate itself. As the roads are made better the automobilists will be tempted to exceed the speed limit and, being sent to prison for this, they can improve more roads.

When a Chicago cigar dealer put $1,159 in real money into a mysterious machine which was to turn it into more money there came a cloud of smoke, in which the operator of the machine disappeared along with the cigar man's cash. Henceforth the victim will try to be satisfied with permitting other people to get smoke for their money by buying his cigars.

New Styles of Streets Cars.

This is an age of street-railway development. Hardly had the pay-as-you-enter car attained a degree of familiarity with the public than someone made a pay-within car, and now we have another new style—the pay-as-you-leave car. In other words, you buy your street-car ride like you purchase your luncheon at a restaurant, and pay for it when you go out.

Cleveland is the birthplace of this newest style of vehicle for urban railway transit. Only one of the type has thus far been constructed, but it is expected that others may be built so as to give the pattern an adequate test in actual service. Passengers board the car by the front platform and leave it at the back, where the conductor stands, with a fare box and a machine stamp to put the time limit on transfers issued. On one side of the car are cross-seats; on the other is one long seat extending from end to end of the vehicle. This arrangement of the seating facilities, it appears, is not new in Cleveland. Another feature not common in other cities—and maybe not so in Cleveland—is a megaphone fixed overhead, but with speaking connections so that the motorman can convey information to the passengers presumably such as "Transfer here for So-and-So," etc. The car is fitted with folding steps, and passengers can not board it while it is in motion.

There seems to be some advantages gained in the pay-as you leave car. Passengers may quickly get on board and obtain seats without having to wait for transfers or for someone to have money changed, and they can leave their seats sufficiently early to pay their fares and obtain transfers in order to avoid delay at the exit.

Should the Atmosphere Be Conserved?

This is a serious question. Scientific men have seen the vital need of conserving the forests. They tell us that the melting snows of winter saturate the forests, which, like sponges, hold the moisture, relinquishing it little by little through the summer, thus maintaining a fairly uniform humidity for the year. We are further informed that excessive timber-cutting on the watersheds engenders floods in spring and drought in summer. But the conservationists, when first calling your attention to the necessity for preserving our standing timber, failed to make the most of one of their strongest arguments.

We are dependent upon vegetation for the removal from the atmosphere of that product of combustion, carbon dioxide, which we know to be inimical to animal life. Were man not undergoing a vast industrial expansion, the amount of carbon dioxide which his mere living exhales would amount to practically nothing. But he is tearing from the earth great strata of coal and feverishly uniting it with the atmospheric oxygen and pouring it back into the atmosphere from which nature once so carefully eliminated it.

Conflagrations among the forests and the abodes of men swell the increasing amount of carbon dioxide with which the atmosphere is annually burdened. Many industries, as, for example, the manufacture of lime from limestone by the addition of heat, are adding carbon dioxide to the air in ever increasing volume. Our present yearly growth of vegetation is abstracting this carbon from the atmosphere for its needs; can it completely balance the equation which man's industrial activity has created? This is a serious question indeed.

It will take much research before the writer can answer it. But the need of assistance in the search through the by-paths of statistics leads him to interest other minds in a subject which is obviously of vital importance. Aviators have noted inexplicable absence of available oxygen in the upper strata of the atmosphere. If there is danger ahead for the human race from this source, knowledge of it can come none too quickly. The bacilli beneath our microscopes, whose effluvia ultimately so poisons the environment as to destroy the colony, warn us that man himself is not above the possibilities of a like reaction.

The delicate adjustment between this function of vegetation and the carbon dioxide in the atmosphere is not the immediate subject of our query. Man is using up the atmospheric oxygen (aside from uniting it with carbon under his boilers and elsewhere) beside combining it with solids where it must lie, unavailable, for ages. This oxygen is as much "consumed" as the coal, the iron, copper, etc., whose visible supply is said to be sufficient for but a few centuries longer.

Think of the amount of atmospheric oxygen that is yearly converted to a solid form by the natural oxidation or rusting of iron, the world over. Then consider the gigantic metallurgical plants whose blast furnaces consume uncalculated millions of tons of oxygen each year which is discarded in the slag. The reduction of metals and the manufacture of steel lead in spending that most important of all natural resources, the atmospheric oxygen. Is then this still more delicate balance maintained?

If we are agreed that a time not far distant, will find man without coal or iron, because the atmospheric oxygen is invisible as we leave it out of our consideration until it is perhaps too late?

Automobile a Minute.

In the matter of daily automobile output and shipment a startling fact was accomplished last week by the Ford factory in the shipping of 603 cars in 540 minutes. One hundred and seven freight cars were required for this shipment, one day's output. This record was demonstration of Mr. Ford's theory that in raising the wages of his employees 15 per cent. and reducing the working day by one hour, he would correspondingly increase the efficiency of the workers. His employees have responded nobly to Mr. Ford's voluntary generosity, and the scientific efficiency thus inspired more than offset the increase in the pay roll.

Notice to Clean Up.

Owners and tenants of property are notified to clean up around the premises, removing all dirt cans, refuse, etc., and placing everything in strict sanitary condition. The state board of health is making every effort to protect the health of the people who live in our commonwealth, and hope to have the hearty co-operation of county and local authorities, in the enforcement of all sanitary measures. It is hoped the people will respond universally to this notice, thus not only improving the appearance of the city, but at the same time insuring a minimum of sickness, suffering, expense, and the saving of many lives.

Victor machines, records and needles at Roark's.

Best one ever made—the Kirsch curtain rods; Roark has a large line.

THE LINE OF THE SPINE

Shown above is the curved line which truthfully presents to your eye the condition of your spine if you use a sewing machine. The reason for this is the family sewing machine as ordinarily constructed, is altogether wrong. You cannot sit straight in your chair while operating your machine—try it, sit straight and square as you should, and see if you can sew on your machine; you can't. The profile is 4½ inches from the center where it ought to be. To follow your work you have to twist your body to the left. This twist calls for a wrench and strain of all the delicate chords and ligaments, affecting stomach, spleen, liver, kidneys, bowels and nerves, and resulting in SIDE NEEDLE SPINE.

If it were possible for a growing child to operate an ordinary sewing machine, it would be injured for life. The soft cartilage of its spine would twist and warp, its vital organs would be injured to such an extent as to produce nervous disorders.

In schools, as you know, desks and chairs are specially constructed to avoid spinal curvature. In factories where sewing machines are used, the work is always directly central with the operator, otherwise they could not stand the strain of the twist of the body and continue to work.

THE STANDARD CENTRAL NEEDLE machine is a new type of family sewing machine designed as a health saver and preventer of doctors' bills.

In this machine the needle is central with the work—directly over the center of the treadle. To use it calls for no twist of the spine, it causes no strain on the internal organs and consequent tortures of the nerves.

With THE STANDARD CENTRAL NEEDLE machine a woman is safe in using it all day and every day, without ill effect. Compare the two pictures—positions taken from life—and decide which you will have. THE SIDE NEEDLE SPINE or THE CENTRAL NEEDLE SPINE.

We have printed a valuable book, "A STITCH IN THE SPINE," which is yours FREE for the asking—and every intelligent woman will want it and will thank us for bringing it to her attention. Representing the subject of sewing machine construction throughout, and explaining how and why the STANDARD CENTRAL NEEDLE SEWING MACHINE is vital to the health of woman and growing girls, and how easy it is to buy. If you value your health and the health of your daughters—you will send for a copy at once—absolutely FREE. A postal will bring it by return mail. ROARK, Agent, Greenville, Ky.

A Clean Man

Outside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unclean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean liver, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, healthy flesh. It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. Constipation is the most unclean uncleanliness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.

The first low rate excursion to Louisville, run Tuesday afternoon, drew quite a party from here, many ladies going. The train returns tonight.

Messrs. Morton Roll and Hubert Meredith were in a runaway while en route to Central City yesterday morning, their horse becoming frightened at an automobile. The buggy was demolished, but neither of the passengers was hurt beyond a shaking up.

Commencement Exercises.

The closing exercises of the graded school, held at the court house last Friday night, drew an audience that packed the circuit court room and auditorium. The program was a varied and pleasing one, the music, addresses by graduates and talk by Mr. Newton Belcher all being highly interesting. This brought to an end the best year's work that has been done. Plans are already under way for enlarging the usefulness of the school for next session.

The Muhlenberg Sentinel has resumed operations, appearing under the business management of Mrs. Della E. Reno, and will aid in the development of the county. Long life to it and much success.

Dr. J. H. Bray will be in Louisville next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, attending the annual meeting of the State Dental Association.

Visit Sam Ree's barber shop, near Max Weir old stand, for a smooth shave and artistic hair cut. Alfred Collins is with me again.

A large crowd was drawn to court square Monday afternoon when an advertising novelty for the Red Goose shoes proved one of the greatest drawing cards our people have enjoyed. A goose with a blazing red jacket which can run like a streak, was pitted in two races, the distance being about 100 yards. In the race against the boys he distanced all competitors, but against the girls he was either a gallant or a laggard, for he was beaten some feet by Evelyn Pannell, who won the pair of shoes. These shoes are advertised for the dealers, R. Martin & Co.

Some boys were discussing the silk and near-silk hoisery worn by many of the girls and young women here now. One of the boys declared that he had to look twice now, to be sure that these items were on. The other admitted that twice was hardly enough for him to look, but that he looked each success five time to see the same thing that he did the first time.

There will be an interesting entertainment at the court house next Friday night, May 31, when "Snap Shots," a humorous playlet, will be given by home talent under the direction of Miss Lelia Dewitt. There will be some 75 characters, and everyone should be present to enjoy the fun. The young ladies' missionary society of the Presbyterian church have the matter in charge, and deserve the general support of the public.

For sale—One full blooded Jersey male calf, one year old; will sell worth the money.

J. E. COOMBS.

Embers Eaves, colored, a native of this city, died of consumption at his home in East St. Louis at 7 o'clock last Sunday night, after an illness of some length. The body was brought here by his wife and sister, and interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery this afternoon.

TIRE RUN-DOWN PEOPLE

A North Carolina Man Suggests a Remedy

Greensboro, N. C.—"For a long time I was so run down and debilitated that I could hardly drag around. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep nights. I had tried different so-called tonics without benefit. I was advised to try your cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol, and I am so glad I did, for it gave me a hearty appetite, I soon commenced to sleep soundly, and I feel strong, well and more active than I have for years. Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol a trial." K. Allsbrook.

What Vinol did for Mr. Allsbrook it will do for every weak, run-down or debilitated person in this vicinity. To show our faith we will furnish the medicine free if it does not do as we claim. Come in and get a bottle on these terms.

JOHN X. TAYLOR, DRUGGIST, Greenville, Ky.

An Unprecedented Political Confusion.

Never before in the history of our nation has there been so wide spread political confusion, wrangling bitterness of sentiment and effort being put forth by those seeking the office of President of our great nation. There are nine men before the people for their acceptance. They are traveling promiscuously from state to state using all kind of chin music and lip service, criticising each other with vile calumny, each claiming to be devout men and to be the Christ of the nation, capable of saving the country. They are telling the people that they love them and if elected will bring on the millennium era and shall wipe away all tears. So great are the efforts of some by tongue rattling that specialists have to be employed to administer for throat and lung relief so that the foul gas and spleen which has accumulated in the cavities of the brain can be easily discharged upon the contending opponents. There are nine regular candidates for the nomination for President, and four dark horses waiting and watching in harness ready and expecting to be brought into the ring later on, which makes thirteen aspirants for the Presidency constituting that unlucky, dreaded and undesirable number. Of the number thirteen there are four regular bred political fanatics, or we might say, delusive cranks, which render the situation more disastrous and unfortunate. Now twelve of these candidates must necessarily be rejected and retired. Hence the number thirteen shall be chosen for the President of the nation and when such occurs we may expect bad luck, a general depression of business, blighted crops, panics, earthquakes, floods and flames and all kind of ill-fated procedure. So for the next four years dark forebodings will hover over our nation and disaster may be expected from the indications now apparent, especially if either of the fanatics should assume the unlucky number. We need a true prophet to give the forecast of the times. The oldest inhabitants of our country will tell that they never before witnessed anything like it during their lives, and it is to be hoped that such state of affairs shall never be witnessed again. May the good Lord save our country from such a predicament.

INDEPENDENT.

Mr. Thos. O'Bryan was here from Madisonville the first of the week on business.

Mr. James Barkley sent to this office last week a specimen of pocket root that comes near being the first prize winner. The section sent in was about half of the root, as it was cut off by a plow, but the part submitted weighed 16 pounds. Mr. Barkley will not say that he secured the offering from his own land, as that would show a like of proper cultivation.

Get ready to bid on the Chatham property next Monday. This is the most valuable offering that has been placed on the market in some time.

Sprains.

A sprain results when a joint or a muscle is wrenched so violently that the ligaments or tendons are torn or even stretched.

The word strain is used to describe injuries so slight that although there is pain and stiffness, there is no swelling. Such injuries are treated by tight bandaging or "strapping"—to the end that the parts may have rest and support while recovering. The word sprain always describes injuries that are accompanied by swelling, which is caused by bleeding into the tissues, and which may be either simple or complicated. A simple sprain is marked by pain, tenderness, loss of power and swelling, and a complicated sprain by more serious trouble, such as torn cartilage or broken bone.

Proper treatment of a sprain varies with the extent of the mischief, but there are certain things that must always be done. Bleeding into the tissues must be checked, inflammation prevented as far as possible; pain relieved; absorption promoted; the torn ligaments repaired, and the joint restored to a condition in which it can perform its work properly.

It has been said that slight sprains need little treatment, but a great deal of care, for a sprain that is so slight as to be almost unnoticed is often followed by structural changes in the joint. A sprained joint should be tightly banded at once, and the flow of blood into the tissues should be checked by means of cold applications.

A little later there is nothing so useful as proper massage to promote absorption and restore power to the joint. If the injury is to a leg, the patient should be put to bed; if to an arm, he should use a sling. However slight the injury may appear, the part must have rest if it is to get well.
